

There is something significant about coming together...

One of those great hallmarks of being a Baptist is the 'associational principle'. In its simplest form that means we can accomplish more together than we can apart, which makes total sense, doesn't it?

As a Region, we look forward to coming together every two years for our Biennial Leadership Conference at the Blair County Convention Center in Altoona, PA. It's a chance for us to worship together, grow together, connect with old friends and make some new friends in the faith as we meet together as a Regional Family.

This year's BLC will be held October 27-29th, with a focus on how each of us can grow closer in our walk with the Savior. Our keynote speaker will be Dr. Christopher Hall, the President of Renovaré, a ministry focused on helping God's People flourish in their pursuit to become more like Jesus. We'll also be blessed with inspiring worship, practical workshops and rich opportunities for fellowship.

There is something significant about coming together, and as a Regional Family we are committed to offering Biennial Leadership Conferences that inspire and engage God's People in the pursuit of all that means to be growing leaders and congregations that are making a difference in the communities in which we serve.
